Your Ideas for the 1994 Conference

Justin Dart, Jr.

Rick Douglas

Dear Colleague:

On behalf of President Bill Clinton we invite you to the 1993 Annual Conference of the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities, which will be held in St. Louis, May 12-14.

We are in the third year of implementing ADA. We have a new President who is committed to the full implementation of ADA, and to leading our nation in the process of profound change necessary to empower all of our citizens, with and without disabilities, in the productive mainstream of the American dream.

Historic decisions are being made that will affect the quality of the lives of Americans with disabilities for generations to come. We need you at our St. Louis Conference to participate in those decisions. Together we will assess the implementation of ADA so far, and plan and prepare for the future. There will be advanced training for the next phase of ADA implementation.

We will hear from the new leaders of government in the area of disability. We will prepare guidance for them. We will consider the great public issues of the nineties as they impact employment opportunities for people with disabilities: health care, personal assistance and other independent living services, job creation, education, technology and telecommunications, economic and international policy.

President Clinton has pledged a government that will include you. He is ready to keep that pledge, but it can only be kept with your leadership participation. We look forward to meeting you in St. Louis. Together, we will keep the promise of ADA, the promise of America — to ourselves and our grandchildren.

Justin Dart, Jr.
Chairman

Rick Douglas
Executive Director

CONCURRENT WORKSHOPS

"The speakers in the general sessions and workshops were superlative.... I learned a great deal."

—Educator on '92 Conference

During the three (3) days of the conference, attendees will have an opportunity to select from over 50 workshops on ADA implementation, advancing employment of people with disabilities, and empowerment. Workshops will focus on best practices, prototypical models, and resource information. These workshops will address issues raised by businesses, government, service providers, organized labor, the disability community, and other concerned publics on the full range of subjects related to the employment of people with disabilities.

The following provides a partial list of subjects to be addressed.

- International Perspective
- Economic, Labor Market and Demographic Trends
- Independent Living Resources and their Role in Employment
- Assistive Technology in the Workplace/Universal Design
- National, Regional, and State Models Supporting Transition from School to Work
- Personal Assistance Services as an Aid to Employment
- How to Develop Job Descriptions, Including Determining Essential Job Functions
- Supported Employment Models
- ADA: Best Practices and Successful Implementation Strategies (Title I and Title III)
- Self-Advocacy, Leadership and Empowerment
- Recruitment, Placement and Interviewing
- "Upward Mobility" and the Glass Ceiling Facing Employees with Disabilities
- ADA: Training Supervisors/Train the Trainers Models
- Sharing Ideas: Employers and the Rehabilitation/Education Community
- ADA: Addressing Hidden Disabilities (Cognitive Disabilities, TBI, etc.)
- ADA: Addressing Chronic Illness
- ADA: Addressing Psychiatric Disabilities
- Cultural Diversity: Promoting Employment Opportunities
- Social Security Incentives: PASS and IRWE Programs
- Safety and Egress for People with Disabilities
- Emerging Issues in the Field
- Workers' Compensation Issues
- Medical Insurance Issues
- Alternative Dispute Resolution
- Seniority Issues
- Communications/Media
- H.I.V. and the Workplace
- Small Businesses Implement ADA

This conference will be informative, exciting, and state-of-the-art. The workshop presentations will be made by nationally recognized experts. The conference will focus on the change spearheaded by the enactment and implementation of ADA. Cutting edge information will be provided in a stimulating and challenging framework. More panels on a broader range of topics will be provided than ever before.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

"The range and selection of topics were excellent.... The entire program was first class."

—Consumers on '92 Conference

ORIENTATION FOR NEW ATTENDEES

This session is for those attendees who would like a briefing on the purpose and programs of the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities, and an overview of the Annual Conference activities.

OPENING RECEPTION

A special "Taste of St. Louis—Circa 1904" event is being planned to launch the conference in style. Food, music, and entertainment will be reminiscent of the first World's Fair held in St. Louis in 1904.

OPENING SESSION

Major business, government, and disability community leaders will address issues concerning important topics related to the employment of people with disabilities, including ADA implementation. Leaders in the disability arena will address the topic, "It's Time for a Change, But What Change?" The President's Trophy will be presented to the person who has done the most to enhance the empowerment and employment of people with disabilities.

AWARDS LUNCHEON

This event pays tribute to labor and veterans' leaders and the disability community, as well as private and public employers, for their efforts in advancing employment of people with disabilities. See page 10 for ticket purchasing information.

EXHIBIT HALL/RECEPTION

The Exhibit Hall will feature over 150 booths highlighting new products and programs associated with the employment of people with disabilities.

A reception will be held in the Exhibit Hall on Thursday to help focus attention on the many fine exhibits on display. Come and network with the exhibitors and learn more about available technology and resources supporting the employment of people with disabilities.

ENTERTAINMENT

A gala event is planned for Thursday evening. America's Disability Channel will present famous entertainers for your enjoyment.

“The opportunity to network and learn best practices/successful prototypes was very valuable.”

—Rehabilitation specialist
on ‘92 Conference

GENERAL SESSION

The Thursday General Session will focus on the theme, “Keeping the Promise of ADA.” This session will address the national policy of implementation, enforcement and such empowerment issues as health care, personal assistant services, and access to technology. Members of the Clinton Administration will focus on what is going to happen in the new era of ADA implementation.

MEDIA AWARDS LUNCHEON

This luncheon will provide an opportunity to recognize excellence in the media. National leaders in the communications field will be honored for their role in reducing the negative stereotyping of people with disabilities and for their efforts to feature people with disabilities living and working independently in the community. See page 10 for ticket purchasing information.

CONCURRENT SYMPOSIA

The following is a partial list of symposia that will be available:

- 1. ADA Implementation—Featuring best practices and prototypical models. Learn from the experts what works. Training will be offered at the beginner, intermediate, and advanced levels to accommodate the varied needs of the conference participants. Training will be provided by leaders in the field. A simple self-assessment questionnaire will be included in the final program to assist you in determining the appropriate workshop level to attend. Important implementation and enforcement issues will be addressed, including tracking compliance, documenting and disseminating on successful program models and evaluating the quality of technical assistance provided to consumers and businesses.
- 2. Resource Information Laboratories—Featuring workplace technology, universal design, and technological and mechanical problems will
- 3. National Minority Symposium—Providing which will facilitate the smooth implementation throughout the United States. This symposium business sector, labor, service providers, and communities in partnership with persons with implementation of the ADA. The following technology, Provision of Goods and Services for Title I of ADA—Implications for Minority C Empowerment for Diverse Populations.

*"I was able to take back a plethora of information
to my agency....
Excellent

—Government participant
on '92 Conference

4. ADA Summit Report—Presenting recommendations from the National ADA Employment Summit convened on December 2, 1992. This Summit was a historic meeting of over 200 national leaders from business, labor, government, and the disability community, who convened to work on key ADA implementation issues. Several work groups, including those dealing with seniority, worker's compensation, alternative dispute resolution, and insurance, will present their recommendations.

5. Small Business and ADA Implementation—Featuring the successes and problems of small businesses in implementing ADA.

6. H.I.V. Empowerment and Workplace Issues Symposium—Providing information on the relationship between empowerment and such workplace issues as irrational fears of transmission in the workplace, fear of losses in productivity due to illness and hospitalizations, high health insurance costs, and fear that an entire business will become stigmatized by association with H.I.V. Issues relating to workplace discrimination, breaches in confidentiality, and the need to educate co-workers will be highlighted. Empowerment as a critical factor in enabling people with H.I.V. to overcome workplace-related discrimination will be discussed.

YOUR IDEAS FOR NEXT YEAR'S ANNUAL CONFERENCE

This is a new feature whereby attendees are encouraged to help us design next year's Annual Conference. Be involved by sharing your ideas and experiences with us so that we can better serve you. Your views are important. We want to be responsive to the needs and ideas of conference participants.
